

News releases announce an event, program offering, faculty or student accomplishment, or appointment. Timing is crucial for sending releases (editors like to receive them three weeks in advance of an event), so we like to have the information at least four weeks prior to the event (or the reply deadline) in order to write, print and receive approval from the sponsoring department, off ce or individual.

It is University policy that all media inquiries on University activities must be reported to the Public Relations Off ce. The Public Relations Off ce is solely responsible for preparing "off cial" University responses to the media.
